Oman

An Analogue for Future Oil and Gas of MENA

Organised by

Target Exploration

Why MENA 2015 Oil & Gas Conference has dedicated sessions on Oman?

As the upstream oil and gas industry of MENA countries didn't evolve uniformly, therefore the pioneering upstream experiences of Oman may provide other MENA countries with ideal analogues for exploring, developing and producing:

- ✓ Precambrian Sourced Oil, Condensates and Gas in Phanerozoic Reservoirs.
- ✓ Sub- and Intra-Infracambrian Salt Clastic & Carbonate Reservoirs.
- ✓ Permian and Carboniferous Glacial and Fluvio-glacial Reservoirs.
- ✓ Palaeozoic-Precambrian Tight Gas-condensates Reservoirs.
- ✓ Clusters of Marginal Discoveries with Mature Oil & Gas Fields.
- ✓ Heavy Oil Reservoirs by Gas- and Solar-generated Steam Injection.
- ✓ Cretaceous and Pre-Cambrian Shale Oil & Gas.

MENA Oil & Gas Conferences: The Middle East and North Africa Oil & Gas Conferences are held annually at the prestigious Imperial College of Science & Technology, London, UK.
